

THE CONSTITUTION PUBLISHING COMPANY will issue as soon as the Convention closes, a complete report of the proceedings of the convention, giving the speeches of the members on every subject that has been considered.

THE SAME REPORT REVIEWED AND CORRECTED heretofore published in each issue of THE ATLANTA DAILY CONSTITUTION. It is the only THOROUGHLY RELIABLE ORIGINALLY PUBLISHED, and therefore the only report that gives in full the debates of the Convention. It has been prepared at great expense to the Company and will make a book of more than 500 pages. It will be neatly printed, and will contain nothing but the proceedings of the Convention. The price will be $10 per volume.

Only a limited number of copies have been published, and many others have already been received. All who desire a copy will please send the amount by registered letter or postpaid order, and the book will be forwarded post paid. Address CONSTITUTION PUBLISHING COMPANY, Atlanta, Ga.

CONVENTION SKETCHES.

The convention sketches are now ready. The volume is handsomely bound in cloth-prize one dollar. Besides a sketch of each member of the convention, the book contains a portrait of each senatorial district. It forms an excellent memorial of the convention. A limited number of copies has been printed, and orders will be filled as they come in. We will furnish unbound copies at 50 cents.

THE nice little editors of the Columbus Enquirer have repeatedly stated that the citizens of Atlanta wouldn't be able to make up the purse for the races. We cheerfully refer them to the advertisement in another column—and if they will come up to Atlanta we will show them the best and most successful fair ever held in Georgia.

Judge Underwood's View on the Location of the Capital.

Rome, Ga., September 17, 1877.

Hon. N. L. Angier, Dear Sir, I congratulate you and the people of Georgia upon the manifestation of wisdom displayed by the late constitutional convention of Georgia. Although that body of true men did not do all that some had desired to do, they have done enough to entitle them to the undying gratitude of the whole people of Georgia.

Among other things, the convention provided that the people should vote upon the location of the capital, before the fall of 1877. This is a question that ought to be decided without passion or prejudice. I am sure I have no prejudice one way or another. The triumphs of my life (if I ever had any) were achieved at Milledgeville. The people of that city have generally been very kind to me, would not do them an act of injustice.

That the capital of the state should be located at Atlanta does not, in my opinion, admit of a doubt. It will not be denied that Atlanta is the commercial and business centre of the state. You will find up to the present time, that all the great goods are sold there, at any other point in Georgia, and more general business transacted than at any other place. The people of Atlanta are wide awake, active, intelligent, full of pluck and capacity. No one will assert that Atlanta is not the "railway center" of Georgia. The transportation, the great central, controlling idea of this age in this country, and being the railway centre, Atlanta is practically, to all intents and purposes, the centre of the state.

Extreme regret is felt at the efforts being made in the South to excite prejudice against Atlanta, and the citizens thereof. It is said that the "radicals" put the capital at Atlanta. Well, what if they did? Does that make it wrong? When Georgia was under military rule, Atlanta was so well understood to be the center of the state, that the radical government was moved to that point. This was believed to be necessary, that it is not an argument in favor of retaining the capital there? But the convention propose to leave this matter to the people of Atlanta. If it is decided, as it would be, if it was wrong because it was done by the "radicals," I confess it will cause us to feel better about it when done by our own people. Again, it is said that Atlanta is a tank city, controlled by northern men and northern capital. This were not facts, it does not follow, necessarily, that that is an reason why the capital should not be there if other facts demand it.

But this is not true in any point of view; neither true in the abstract, or in the concrete. This is another effort to excite prejudice.

Who was for Atlanta? Who began with the "beginning"? Dr. George Thompson and Judge L. E. Bockley were among the first. Then came Gen. Garrett, Col. L. J. Glenn, Hammond and son, Judge Collier, Judge Ezzard, Hoyt, Hill, Austell, Moore and Marsh, the Rev. Mr. Adair, and many others, host of others who are here, to-day in the enjoyment of the fruits of their honest efforts.

I was born and raised in the north end of the state, and I am as well acquainted with the people of Atlanta as any one who resides the north end. I have seen the movement of money from the northern and other portions of Georgia who have settled in Atlanta, and who, to some extent, give tone to the business, and I can say that for business capacity, truth, honor and fair dealing, mixed with energy, unflinching, they have no superior among the states.

Atlanta never bowed the knee to "Bas," true to the instincts of a generous and noble patriot, stand shoulder to shoulder with the true men from other parts of Georgia. She has defied the efforts of bad men and measured them.

Accommodations there are ample for any crowd that will come. The hotels are equal to any, and her boarding houses equal to any emergency that is likely to arise. We are as much indebted to the people of Atlanta for the part in the political atmosphere as to any other portion of Georgia. None will deny that Atlanta is of all events the most convenient point for all of north Georgia, and will the balance of the state remember to forget the services of the past, when Georgia forgot the past, and when Georgia, in the control of the state, controlled by true men that never failed to respond to any just demand of their brethren be now forgotten or neglected?

The liberal offers made by Atlanta in reference to the control of the state, and the fact, illustrates the character of her people. She proposes to do more than her share—more than her part. I do not own one dollar's worth of property in Atlanta, or in business there, and, speak disinterestedly.

I have put my letter in the midst of my personal and official engagements that allow no time for attention to style.

One word in relation to another objection. It is said that there is corruption and trickery about Atlanta. I have been in the habit of attending the sessions of the Georgia legislature for several years, and Atlanta is the identical same "old rat" hunting around for official positions that I formerly saw in Milledgeville. Unless we move the seat of government to the moon, we will never get finally away from them. I am, with very high respect, yours truly,

J. W. H. UNDERWOOD.

OUR SOUTHERN MAIL.
Clearings from the South Atlantic and Gulf Press.
VIRGINIA.

The Norfolk Bay Book has balanced its accounts with the radicals, of which it has been the oldest organ in the state, and has joined the democracy. After all, Hayes' southern policy is a very moral medicine.

Lynchburg has had a rainbow at 7 o'clock in the evening. It is not stated whether it was discovered used Wythe county whisky or a cut glass bar barrel.

The Richmond negroes talk of erecting an industrial school. That is a first rate move, but the move that ought to precede it is to move out in the country and hire the students out to the farmers.

A larger bear was killed on North river by some workmen. One of them got in the bear's caput with a foot adze.

A negro horse thief named James Giles was picked up in Lynchburg on Saturday.

The Lynchburg News sets down broadly and emphatically upon the proposition that Hayes shall be entertained there at the expense of the taxpayers.

They have daylight desperadoes in Richmond who attack and rob ladies on the public streets.

Madame Jennings Hardesty, the female claimant in the great Jennings' estate suit, is about to leave Richmond for another trip to Europe. Before going she proposes to lecture and show that the Benjamin letter is a forgery.

Sam Weisinger, of Augusta, Ga., after shooting around with his friends in Manchester, has started home.

Perce Cartington, son of Mayor Cartington of Richmond, has sailed for Cape Town, Africa, in a chopper that left Richmond for that port with 4,200 barrels of flour.

NORTH CAROLINA.

Dr. Plummer, the venerable Presbyterian divine, has reached home from the Pan-Presbyterian council, lately held in Edinburgh.

The "Durham Bull" is in suit at Chancery Court for the infringement of trademark of the Durham Bull tobacco. We have had a painful suspicion for some time that a spurious bovine was being passed upon confusing smokers.

The farmers of North Carolina have had a perfect bonanza in the dried fruit trade. They are shipping thousands of boxes every day to every railroad station every week.

The largest man in North Carolina is Captain James F. Jones, of Greene county. He is six feet one inch high, and weighs 647 pounds. He is also an active man, for a circus agent has been vainly trying for three years to build a tent around him.

In the small hold court in Green county the other day, he is the first democratic judge in that district since the war, and the people attended in immense numbers and celebrated the occasion with a barbecue. Democracy is the sure forerunner of ham-fat and hog and hominy times.

Many a school superintendent of the like of Mr. Joseph Blaikie near Raleigh, was struck in the head with an axe by Henry Moonighan, a laborer, and killed. Moonighan is in jail.

Some zealous patriot sent Wood-soldier of the Raleigh Observer, "a varmint in a box," and a worthy sciolist established himself on goods box opposite the post office, and writes his locality by gas-light, at the city's expense. He proposes to present it to the Hayes menagerie, if it should come to Raleigh.

SOUTH CAROLINA.

The bootblacks of Charleston have formed a sort of trades union with regular officers. It is reported that there was a strike, and that they can't get paid for the varis' us offices.

The work of recovering the state arms from the irresponsible negro holds thereof is progressing quietly and rapidly.

A large amount of ammunition passed through Charleston and was shipped to New York by steamer the other.

Ezekiel Mayhew, a colored man with some little education, and formerly a school teacher in Cane creek township, Lancaster county, left for Liberia on Monday last. As we understand, he is sent out to view the promised land, and to return and report his observations by the first of next month.

Ex-Treasurer Watson, of York county, returned home from Ohio on Tuesday. On being informed of the legal proceedings which had been instituted against him, he is said to have expressed himself as ignorant of any irregularities in his accounts.

KENTUCKY.

John A. Thummel was fooling with a pistol, where there was no occasion for it, in a store at Louisville, Friday evening, and accidentally shot and killed a fellow clerk named Geo. W. Chapman.

The "Immortal J. N." was in Louisville the other night, and proposed to make a speech, but desisted when he found that the mayor had ordered the police to remain in doors and the police to bring out Will Hayes' steamboat and dock her at the wharf to the rowboat at the hour when "The Immortal" was to "assume the presence."

Two hundred German families, now living in New York City, will remove to Louisville in October. The agent of the immigrants has already received half a barrel of beer salmon cards.

The Murphy men have got the thing over at Louisville. All the temperance men wear red ribbons and all the toppers red noses.

General Wade Hampton is in Louisville, and attended the exposition on Saturday night. He is being lionized wherever he goes.

TENNESSEE.

The supreme court is hearing ahead on a heavy docket at Knoxville.

Jonathan Lipp, of Carter county, will be one hundred years old on the 24th of September (provided the neighbors propose to stuff him with centennial barbecue on that auspicious day).

It appears that Rogersville has a newspaper. This disease attacks that village about as regularly as the mumps.

The East Tennessee Dental association held its first annual meeting at Cleveland on Friday. They are to be given a toothsome entertainment by the citizens of that thriving town.

They are erecting a fine cotton compress in Chattanooga. This looks queer, but then Chattanooga has a way of doing such unheard-of things and to better advantage than almost any town in the south.

ALABAMA.

The prisoners in the Dadeville jail, with assistance from the outside, effected their escape a few nights ago.

A crazy printer has been put in jail in Mobile. He became enraged from setting up copy furnished by the paragrapher's association.

David Tait was shot by two men named Cyrus and Johnson, at Nickleburg. It was a cold-blooded attempt at assassination. Johnson was arrested. Tait, at last accounts, was in a dying condition. The Herald has some talk about the matter, that reads strongly like the observations of Judge Lynch.

A boy named Davis got into an alteration with a violent fellow named Baker, farming on Island No. 96, and they had a set battle with pistol and rifle. Davis, at the 5th round, shot Baker through the heart and killed him instantly.

We speak knowingly when we assert that Hall's Vegetable Sicilian Hair Renewer is the best article of the kind sold on the American Continent. Personal experience has taught us that it is an elegant and costly one, without which we think no toilet is complete. Messrs. Johnston, Holloway & Co., 62 Arch street, Philadelphia, are the agents for the article, and when our Philadelphia friends return from Cape May, they should certainly procure some of it. We know no such article as this hair, and the price in such decided and emphatic language—Ocean Pearl, May, N. J. 94 sep. dtm. f.

It is a Well Known Fact that many grocers sell Doolley's Yeast Powder at the same price they on the cheap, inferior kinds, and, as they pay more for it, make less profit. They never sell it unless the purchaser demands, and insist on having it. It is not a joke, does not contain sugar or leaven or any other poison; checks the hair from falling out, and gives it a thick and long growth on bald heads. 33 sep. dtm. f.

Astonishing Success.

It is the duty of every person who has used Boscobel's German Syrup to let us know of their wonderful qualities known to their friends in curing Consumption, severe Coughs, Croup, Asthma, Pneumonia, and in fact all throat and lung diseases. No person can use it without immediate success. Those who will write any case, and we consider it of duty of all Druggist to recommend it to the poor dying consumer, at least to try one bottle, no 40,000 dozen bottles were sold last year, and no one case where it failed was reported. Such a medicine as the GERMAN SYRUP can not be too well known. Ask your Druggist about it. Small Bottles to try at 10 cents. Regular price 75 cents. For sale by all first class Drug-gists in the United States.

It established a remarkable healthy action, and its operation is mild and effective. Use Portaoline, or Tabler's Vegetable Liver Powder. 44 may. dtm. f.

The Buckeye has virtues which lie in the bitter principle called Esculin, which have been utilized for the cure of Hemorrhoids, or Piles. If suffering with that disease use Tabler's Buckey-Pile Ointment, only 50 cents a bottle. 44 may. dtm. f.

Coweta County Fair.

We call attention to the announcement of the Coweta Fair association in this issue. The fair will open on the 23d of October, just after the state fair is concluded, and lasts four days. Thirty-five hundred dollars in premiums are offered, and a large list of prizes will be given, a good lot indeed. The fair is a fair and successful one. Coweta county fairs are invariably successful and the to be given in October will be unusually attractive. Our merchants would do well to make displays there and to visit the fair.

The tickets for the committee which is to meet the president of Chattahoochee can be had at the mayor's office.

A FALL IN IRON.

A PAINFUL ACCIDENT AT THE ROLLING MILL.

A Rock of Merchant Iron Jumbles Down and Catches Two Men—Both Painfully, but Neither Fatally Injured.

"Two men have been killed at the Rolling mill!"

This was the answer given to a CONSTITUTION reporter when he asked why Mr. Malone, the yard master at the mill, so far FURIOUSLY DOWN MARIEITA STREET.

A car was passing at the moment, and the reporter overheard it, finding himself in the company of Drs. Ridley and Todd, who had been summoned to the scene of the accident.

Mr. Malone who was on horseback, rode the car, and the reporter reported.

What damage had been done?

He merely knew that some heavy racks of iron had fallen on some of the men, and that they were injured. He mounted his horse as soon as he heard of the accident and hurried into the city for medical aid. He explained the accident follows:

"I was walking slowly and Mary had overtaken me, she has passed us and she will be with us when we open for the gate so easy for her to gain."

We cannot say that the road was expected, for though her friends thought they saw her enter the mist about the dark river, they did not realize that she had entered the flood, shoving her way through the water, being led upon land by a man who was a brother father, a whispering prayer to a son, the earthy father, a man who rolled away the shadow of the mist in a golden cloud and showed us her entrance to the celestial city.

And was not her life as beautiful as her death? Yes; we can look back to the time when they spoke of Little Mary Blanchard, who stood at the head of her class, who was so good and lovely. As the years advanced she advanced with them. Her beauty increased, and she became a girl of surpassing grace and beauty, and she was a superficial view of any subject never satisfied me thoroughly investigative mind. For two years past Mary had shared the highest honors of her class. We looked forward to the time when she would be one of those who would read valetinaria, she had a bright and sunny countenance, and a smile that could not be resisted.

It appears that Mr. Churchill's death caused the accident, he sat at his desk a few feet off. Another man was caught beneath the iron mass, but I do not know who it was. There may have been more than one; I hurried off to get medical assistance.

Just as the car was nearing the mill, was seen coming down the road to meet it. Four or five negro workers were drawing a handcart, on which, unloosed to the drizzling rain, was left the bloody and pale body of a man. The cart was followed by a procession of rolling mill men. The cart stopped, and the doctor, who was a medical student, and a friend of the deceased, (for he was not dead) was able to raise his head slightly, and to speak with pain. His name is Smith. Dr. Todd laid him on the cart bearing him to his home, and there took charge of him while Dr. Ridley went on to Mr. Churchill's Arriving-theatre. Mr. Churchill who is a very kind man, and a good Christian, was a son of a slave, and had a good education, but quite unlike, stamping his feet unfeignedly. He saluted the doctor as he entered, saying, "I am trying my legs to see if they are broken." He sat down upon the bed, and his ready answer. It is hard to think we can no more see her brown eyes brighten when she knows; that we can never again distinguish upon the blackboards her writing in characters so fair and regular among so much that she learned. She was a good girl, and a true daughter of her parents, and a bright and happy child.

The cart stopped, and the doctor, who was a medical student, and a friend of the deceased, (for he was not dead) was able to raise his head slightly, and to speak with pain. His name is Smith. Dr. Todd laid him on the cart bearing him to his home, and there took charge of him while Dr. Ridley went on to Mr. Churchill's Arriving-theatre. Mr. Churchill who is a very kind man, and a good Christian, was a son of a slave, and had a good education, but quite unlike, stamping his feet unfeignedly. He saluted the doctor as he entered, saying, "I am trying my legs to see if they are broken." He sat down upon the bed, and his ready answer. It is hard to think we can no more see her brown eyes brighten when she knows; that we can never again distinguish upon the blackboards her writing in characters so fair and regular among so much that she learned. She was a good girl, and a true daughter of her parents, and a bright and happy child.

It appears that Mr. Churchill's death caused the accident, he sat at his desk a few feet off. Another man was caught beneath the iron mass, but I do not know who it was. There may have been more than one; I hurried off to get medical assistance.

Just as the car was nearing the mill, was seen coming down the road to meet it. Four or five negro workers were drawing a handcart, on which, unloosed to the drizzling rain, was left the bloody and pale body of a man. The cart was followed by a procession of rolling mill men.
